Transient Art: Unfortunately, after the 2000 Wildflower! Festival concludes, the chalk art creations of artists Kathy Colon (below) and Karen White (right) from Kansas City, Kansas will be washed from the pavement inside the WEEDS tent. Nevertheless, they showed Festival attendees, especially children, how to create beautiful pictures in this medium.

Spring Blossom: The floral design on the face of Taylor Berry, 7, daughter of Blaine Berry, Network Administrator - MIS, Town North Bank, was a particularly appropriate motif for a young visitor to the Wildflower! Festival.

In the Hands of an Artist: Lori Daniel, Texans Credit Union, who was Chair of the Volunteer Committee for the Wildflower! Festival, lets Solange Paradis create a marvelous masterpiece on her face. Paradis is one of the facepainters from Faceination, the Montreal company whose incredibly detailed face paintings are a hit every year at Wildflower!

Much Better Than Graffiti:

Spray paint artist Greg Contestabile, who has a studio in downtown Dallas, touches up his wall art creation "Ozone" at the entrance to the Ericsson Art & Technology Zone, which included Art Alley, spray paint mural artists, Richland College Cyber Music café, and other activities of interest to students.
